H. E. MUELLER GOES TO REWARD

GLARY LIFE CLOSES AFTER TWENTY YEARS OF INVAL-IDISM; BURIED SUNDAY

Henry E. Mueller, highly estimated Groton pioneer, died at her home late Thursday. Her final illness was only of short duration, but preceded by a long period of suffering.

Mueller, born Anna Schroeder, Groton City, Wis., on May 4, 1862, entered womanhood in that section.
She was married to Henry E.
Mueller and two years later she accompanied her husband to Jamesville, N. D., where they made their home until 1889 when they removed to Groton which has since been her home excepting for a short period of time in Langford.

She is survived by her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Earl G. Muir, of Groton, Ode, and Mrs. H. C. Dobson, and one son, City Auditor Elmer Mueller, also of Groton, and one daughter, Mrs. Alvina Eller of Alma, Wis.
Funeral services were conducted at the Presbyterian church last afternoon with the Rev. Chas.
H. pastor of the Evangelical church of Aberdeen preaching the epitaph. Ministers taking part in the service were Rev. E. W. Spence of this city, C. E. Strutz, Jamestown, N.

D., and Rev. Fred Dunn of Vienna, Iowa.

"Well With My Soul" a favorite of the departed, was rendered by a quartet consisting of Messrs. J. Warkentin, J. Williams, Norman Berry and R. W. and Mrs. Warkentin rendered "Through the Night" as a final remains were laid to rest in family lot in Groton Union simple lines is recalled the life quiet and unassum-ing little noticed by the bustling world but nevertheless a life in its simplicity and so inspiring example of fine christian life it must needs be counted among those that "are the salt of the earth" more than twenty years or more than twelve years helpless, Mrs. Mueller was an asset to her family and to those fortunate in counting her as friend in adversity and suffering contentment with what affliction caused those who came in close contact with her was a spirit lifted above things mundane and already in communion with the peace that comes with understanding.

A true christian since early life found comfort and consolation in faith unto death, even in a tribulation which was grievous. Death did not break the but courageous spirit triumphant, but a messenger of good tidings of rest and peace was broken, but her spirit beautiful and inspiring, peace, courage and serenity will be missed by those who valued her inspiring friendship.
